Although I never had the honor of meeting this special lady, her daughter Cindy has become a special member of our family. Someone once told me that we are a reflection of our upbringing. Knowing Cindy, Carol had to be an outstanding person and mother. From the other comments I've read, I have no doubt she is already preparing the celebration for all of us when we make our journey to the other side. God's blessings to all her friends and family as you celebrate her life.
