Chris and I worked together for many years. When I think of him, I remember him peeling away from the Dunedin station in his muscle car, talking about oil wells, his willingness to lend a hand and his impeccable work ethic. It was impossible to carry the work load that Chris did. He took pride in his work and always talked lovingly of his family. I was so sad to hear the news of his passing. Even though he's gone, I will always smile when I think of him. I think I will have an RC Cola and a moonpie in his honor today!

Kim Conrad lit a candle in honor of Kenny.

Nothing you love is lost. Not really. Things, people—they always go away sooner or later. You can't hold them anymore than you can hold moonlight. But if they've touched you, if they're inside you, then they're still yours. The only things you ever really have are the ones you hold inside your heart :-)

I met Chris at FedEx in 1995 after transferring with the company from Chicago. He was always so kind and generous. I had barely known him when he offered to buy and replace the engine in my car for free, because he knew I was a single mom, working 2 part times to make ends meet. He was also the first person to pick me up off the warehouse floor, when I was running after a truck to catch a driver, and fell, breaking my elbow ...everyone has a story of good deed about Chris. Peace and prayers to the family. He left too soon. See ya on the other side Chris

I had the pleasure of being Chris' manager at FedEx for a short time before leaving the company. He was such a good, always positive individual who worked hard and enjoyed what he did. Was very passionate when talking about his life outside of work. Enjoyed his family time, and time with friends. I've been gone from the company now for 10 years, but felt a deep sadness when I heard of his passing. I pray for his family's healing, and will never forget this wonderful man that had a positive impact on so many people. Rest in peace Chris. You are in the Lords kingdom now.

I had the pleasure of working with Chris side by side at the fedex station in Tampa for the last 6 years. He was one of the hardest workers that I have worked with. Always punctual, always in a cheerful mood. We shared many stories about life, society, and politics. I never met a more patriotic man that loved his country. And mostly his family. His eyes lit up every time he talked about his kids and grandchildren. And of course his lovely wife Anita. I just talked to Chris last month, he told me Joey if you enjoy your retirement just 30 percent of what I'm enjoying you will be doing great. Rest in peace Chris everyone will miss you! Joe Gomes

It's so hard right now to even understand that Chris is not where he has always been for all these years....with all of you! I can't imagine how hard this for all of you to deal with and I wish there was something I could say to somehow make this easier. There are no words good enough to describe the person that Chris was in my eyes. He was the most loving, thoughtful and caring husband and father I have ever known. It was always so easy to see how much he loved his family. That is the memory I have kept for all these years and the one that will stay with me forever now. Rest well Chris, your love and the person you were will help your family to make it through this hard time. We (Mary, Mike, Michelle and Aaron) will miss you alot!

At birth we boarded the train and met our parents, and we believe they will always travel on our side. However, at some station our parents will step down from the train, leaving us on this journey alone. As time goes by, other people will board the train; and they will be significant. i.e. our siblings, friends, children, and even the love of your life. Many will step down and leave a permanent vacuum. Others will go so unnoticed that we don't realize they vacated their seats. This train ride will be full of joy, sorrow, fantasy, expectations, hellos, goodbyes, and farewells. Success consists of having a good relationship with all passengers requiring that we give the best of ourselves. The mystery to everyone is: We do not know at which station we ourselves will step down. So, we must live in the best way, love, forgive, and offer the best of who we are. It is important to do this because when the time comes for us to step down and leave our seat empty we should leave behind beautiful memories for those who will continue to travel on the train of life. My dad stepped off the train on Wednesday, 25 May 2016. I will miss our talks and will always love you. You were a great father and look forward to seeing you again one day in heaven. Your son, Jason
