Anthony Allis was my 8th grade social studies teacher at Olinville jr. high school. (PS 113) on 216/217 street in the Bronx NY. Tony was an inspiration for me becoming a social studies teacher too. I used many of his classroom procedures in my own classroom being very successful. Even though I was only 13 at the time I remember him fondly. I have just recently retired from teaching myself. He was easily recognizable from his photo on the internet, he never changed from 1963. How I remember his handwriting on the board he hated it so much he picked a monitor to write notes on the board so we could update copy them in our classnote section. I wish I looked him up sooner to speak to him. Tony knew my father well Vito the both worked during the summers driving kids to summer camps for Varsity bus. I will always remember Mr. Allis....may he Rest In Peace. With much affection to all of you. joe DeNicola
