Robert Belichick posted:

I don't know if you can get this, but I was looking at the 1950 census and finally found our address at 31 Como Street. The Lease family lived next door and Chucky (same age as I am.) and I were inseparable as kids. We had lots of adventures in the neighborhood from riding bicycle to hiding treasures in hedgerows. (His dad was pastor at Struthers Presbyterian Church. They left as his dad got new congregations and we lost touch which happens when you're only seven and eight.) His brother, Bobby, was someone I followed as he was a butterfly collector in the fields just south of our house. I often think of those halycon days of being so young. I was born on April 16, 1944. (our cousin, Bill, is also an April 16th birthday person. He's the coach of The Patriots in Boston area.) I thought I'd reach out and see if these nuggets of memories can bring more history to his life. Bob Belichick
