Ryan was the quintessential southern gentleman. Always with a twinkle in his eye and a good joke at the ready, he never met anyone who wasn't his immediate friend. Ryan loved his country, his family, and his friends, and considered himself both lucky and rich. At 96 years he accepted the realities of old age with dignity and grace. A special debt of gratitude to his niece Martha Stubbs Vazquez and her husband Dr. Ernesto Vazquez, for their unwavering devotion to Ryan, for making certain that his quality of life was everything it could be. We shall miss our dear Ryan, and always be grateful for having known him.
