Angela Victoria Tamayo

DEC 2, 1943 - FEB 4, 2026

Angela Victoria Tamayo nacio el 2 de diciembre de 1943, en la provincia de Camaguey municipio Marti, Cuba. Se caso con Rolando Pellerano del cual tuvieron cinco hijos, tres barones y dos hembras, luego enviudo en el año 1990. En el año 1998 ella emigro a Estados Unidos, a el estado de New York, en la ciudad de Rochester donde vivio por siete años, ella trabajo arduamente para traer a sus hijos a Estados Unidos tambien. Luego ella se mudo para el estado de la Florida con su hija Blanca y sus nietos a la ciudad de Clearwater en el año 2005. Ella ayudo a cuidar y criar a sus nietos donde ella les daba clases de español para que ellos nunca perdieran sus raices hispanas. Tambien ella fue una madre exepcional con sus hijos ya que ella los ayudo a salir de Cuba para que tuvieran un mejor futuro en este pais. Ella fue excelente cosinera, y siempre estaba dispuesta para ayudar a su familia y sus amistades, y daba buenos consejos cuando uno tenia cualquier problema. Ella tenia mucho amor y compasion para los animales, y le encantaba ir a la iglesia para practicar su fe catolica. Nosotros la vamos a extrañar mucho y ya sentimos la ausencia de una mujer tan fuerte, cariñosa, y sabia como ella siempre fue.

She married Rolando Pellerano and they then had five children together, three sons and two daughters. Later she was widowed in the year 1990. In 1998 she immigrated to the United States to the state of New York, the city of Rochester and lived there for seven years. She worked tirelessly while there to bring her children from Cuba to the United States as well. Then she moved to the city of Clearwater in the state of Florida with her daughter Blanca and her grandchildren in the year 2005. She helped to raise and take care of both of her grandchildren giving them Spanish lessons so they would never lose touch with their Hispanic roots. She was also an exceptional mother with all of her children helping them all to leave Cuba so they could all have a better future in this country. She was an excellent cook and was always willing to help her family and her friends with anything and gave the best advice whenever someone had a problem in their life. She had lots of love and compassion for all animals and loved going to My grandmother dedicated many years of her life to caring for others as a healthcare aide (CNA) in Cuba, where she was known for her compassion, strong work ethic, and commitment to those in need. She was also a talented cook who lovingly provided for her family. After the passing of my grandfather, she showed remarkable strength and devotion by raising and caring for their five children on her own. After moving to the United States, she continued her life's calling of service by working as a babysitter and as a private aide, caring for elderly individuals in their homes. She found great purpose in helping others, and her kindness, patience, and generosity touched the lives of many families. She had a deep love for life's simple joys, especially her coffee and music. A warm cup of coffee was never just a drink—it was her moment of peace, often shared in conversation, laughter, or quiet reflection. Music filled her home and her heart, and she especially loved listening to Orquesta Aragón, whose songs brought her happiness and reminded her of her homeland. Above all, my abuela gave us the greatest gift: her faith in Jesus. She was the one who accompanied me to Mass, teaching by example what it meant to live with love, humility, and devotion. She was deeply devoted to Our Lady of Charity of El Cobre, and each year we attended Mass at St. Lawrence to celebrate her with prayer and gratitude. Her faith guided her life and became a light for her children and grandchildren. The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

One day with my mom that we will never forget is the day she flew to the United States. My family and I went to the Camagüey airport to say goodbye to her, and it was an extremely difficult moment. We were deeply worried about her well-being in a foreign country. She knew only a couple of friends who could help her begin a new life. At that time, she had recently developed diabetes, a health condition that made adapting even harder. She was an adult with no special skills, no university degree, and no knowledge of the language or culture. Starting over so far away from her family felt almost impossible. Despite all these limitations, my mom was convinced she would succeed. She believed she could build a better future and one day reunite our family. Watching her walk away that day was heartbreaking, but it was also the moment we truly understood her strength. A couple of years later, we reunited with our mom and shared many years filled with her love and compassion. Beyond the family values she taught us—respect, honesty, and support—the greatest lesson she left us was perseverance: never give up, and believe that there is no obstacle in life that cannot be overcome. Always fight to make your dreams come true, just as she did.
