

Martha Baraban

March 21, 1952 - March 26, 2021

In loving memory of Martha Baraban...

On the 26th day of March of the year 2021 god called home the beautiful and loving soul of Martha Baraban. She was a beautiful, faithful, and loving person survived by her husband Zenon Baraban, her son Andrew Baraban, her grand-daughter Andi Baraban, her mother Marta Corcoran, her Sisters Luisa Mosa and Ann Hernandez, and her brother Jon Hernandez.

Martha was born in Mexico City, MX on March 21, 1952. She immigrated with her family to the united states when she was 1 years old. Martha began her life of service by graduating from Kings Community College in Brooklyn New York with an Associate Degree in Nursing. As her nursing career progressed, she would find her way into Labor and Delivery. She would spend close to twenty-five years doing God's work by helping mothers and fathers bring their children into the world and helping new parents adapt to the first few days to their new responsibility of being parents. During this time, she would meet and fall in love with her husband, have a beautiful child, and move from Brooklyn, NY to Largo, FL.

Martha had a passion for nursing and helping people. She never helped somebody with an expectation of receiving any type of acknowledgement. She just knew it was the right thing to do. She always seemed to have a smile on her face and a loved entertaining people. Whether this was for an anniversary, a birthday, or just because it was Sunday. She always believed that celebrations should be big. In her eyes there was no point of a small celebration. She had a laugh that was unique, infectious, and satisfying. Once she would start laughing her laugh could infect an entire room and within moments, she could have an entire room laughing and smiling because of it. Her family and friends can all share stories about this.

Martha Baraban will be missed by so many. She had a passion for her life, her family, and anyone who needed her help. Let us not remember that she is no longer with us but rejoice that she is at peace and no longer suffering. Let us smile knowing that she is heaven smiling back at us. Let us rejoice in celebrating her life and the vibrant way she lived it. Let us celebrate that this is not an end but a beginning of another journey for her and that one day we will all be reunited together in that same journey. To whomever is reading this, remember her final lesson. The one she is teaching you as you read these words. Life is the most precious and fragile thing in the world do not wait for tomorrow or later. Live it right now.....

“ I could write a book of memories from Nursing School to Andrews birth (I was in the delivery room with her by the way) and beyond. Our most recent visit was in 2012. I now know that was arranged by God. I spent 7 days with Martha and will cherish it forever. I was just like no time had passed. Our recent text and conversations were about my new grandson and i shared his pictures. Missing you already! Love you always!

“ Martha,
You were there with my father buying my first dress the day I was born, taking me and Philip on picnics and to fly kites, opening your home to my friends and I when we visited Florida. So many memories and shared moments. You will be missed greatly. Please give my father a big hug from me and watch down on all of us. Patricia “ Something is missing with my Aunt Martha gone. She practically helped raise me right along with my Uncle Zeno. The memories are too many to write here, but she was always there. She was often the holder of secrets...many of which a niece can only share with her aunt and maybe not her own mother. I watched her take care of my Uncle and I hope I'll be half the amazing wife she was to my Uncle Zeno. Her strength and voice also taught me that as a woman, it's so important to speak up and my Aunt definitely did. She loved to travel and always taught me there is a huge world out there to be experienced and explored. My favorite saying she had was 'all work and no play, makes Jack dull'. Fun and playfulness was such a big part of my Aunt's life. Just sharing a picture of Aunt Martha at the last in person football game at UF vs FSU...this was from 2019...I finally got to take my amazing Aunt and Uncle to their first Gator game, and it was a really, really special weekend.

“ Dear family Baraban, my cousin Martha was a great human being, our hearts are broken, but we have faith in God.
We will always remember your laugh. My mom remembers the day you made everyone laugh at the Fine Arts Theater in Mexico City... Así te recordaremos siempre, hermosa y feliz.

“ She came to visit for 4th of July her brothers favorite holiday. My daughter went into labor she came with my son and i to the hospital and sat there all night waiting for my angel to come. She was the best of the best. She was my cheerleader and did all she could in her power to help her brother and I and my son to make a family. She knew how difficult that was. She was always herself. True to herself. Noones puppet everyone's precious. My friend my sister inlaw thankyou foryour love. Aside from Andrew's birth and marriage to Zeno the greatest gift ever given her was her granddaughter. Andi. She loved that girl beyond belief. A very proud grandma! We will miss you more than you know.

“ Aunt Martha,

You have a light about you that touches the lives of everyone you know and I know you will shine that light down on everyone you love. You will be forever missed and you will always be so deeply loved. The last time I saw you, I brought Luca to meet you and he absolutely loved you, just as I always have. I am so grateful that he will always have those memories with you. I have memories of Christmas at your house and Santa on the roof, and your pool, and your contagious laugh, and the snake in the yard, and getting stuck on the side of the road, and all the times you came to meet me and daddy when we were in Disney. There are a lifetime of memories I will forever cherish. While I am definitely in shock and heart broken and my heart breaks for Uncle Zeno and Andrew, I know that you will be watching over all of us. I prayed that daddy would be there on the other side and help you find peace. There are so many things I can say about you but I will end this by saying that you have touched the lives of everyone you know and anyone you knew was lucky to have you a part of their lives. I was lucky to grow up around you and have you as my aunt. We love you. Rest easy.
All my love,
Allie and Luca

“ Martha was kind and generous to everyone who crossed her path-always. Even if you didn't know you needed something, she would get it for you! And it would be a blessing! She never expected anything in return, but took satisfaction in seeing you smile.

She loved her husband deeply, and they loved to travel together-building those happy memories. And Andrew is her greatest pride and joy! She was so proud of all his success-and always will be. She loved her grandchild with deep joy in every moment they spent together. She lit up when they were together.

Her family will miss her. But she taught them to have that inner strength they need now and forever to hear her in their heart - and be strong for each other.

Smile down, Martha. We know your rewards are in heaven- and the legacy you left here on earth - until we all meet again. The gates of heaven have swung open for Martha. Rest in peace. Your work is done.

“ Martha, we traveled a long road together. We met when we were 13, I remember like it was yesterday, tuna sandwiches everyday after school watching Dark Shadows up in that wonderful attic. You were there when my first child was born alllllllll night and I was there when Andrew was born. So many trips, weddings, parties, tears and laughter and happiness for the last 55 yrs. You will be truly missed, I love you. I hope you are at peace and soon You will be having a drink with Steve getting the scoops. Always in my heart.

“ I am so saddened by the loss of you Martha, you have been a part of my life and family for as long as I can remember. You always made fun of me because “I couldn’t reach” and every time you said that phrase you laughed yourself silly and I used that excuse so many times just to hear your wonderful laughter. You will always be in my heart. When you reach the pearly gates let out a hearty laugh so Angie will know you are there.

May you rest in eternal peace

“ I arrived in Brooklyn, New York 53 years ago and my first friend was Martha. She became a part of my family. When I left home to get married she continued to have dinners there and spend time with my family who dearly loved her. We were always in touch even when she left for Florida. There was nothing we wouldn't talk about. The last couple of years we both had a lot of health issues but we managed to get through it and always laughed about it and yes she had that infectious laugh we all loved. I will miss my talks with her so much. May God give comfort to her family,

“ I am both shocked and saddened to find this on Facebook, not because it is on Facebook but because my matron of honor and ex sister-in-law who was an amazing woman, wife, mother, daughter, and sister baba is gone. My heart is broken and I extend my deepest sympathies to Andrew and Zeno... I loved her and despite the other bull, we remained friends. Rest in peace, you were an angel on earth. I know you are an angel in heaven, thanks for everything. You made me wear your bracelet on my wedding day, I had little to no jewelry on; you sat in the hospital with me and my son waiting for my first grandchild to arrive; you made everyday amazing! I will always love you. Rest in peace.

“ Martha was the most wonderful person I ever had the fortune to know. She will be so missed. Even though we were so far away from each other I always feel her presence and love. God bless her and all.

“ I am so shocked and saddened by the loss of Martha. Martha was part of my family for as far back and I can remember. The last time I saw Martha we were in Vegas talking and laughing about the old days. Martha always made fun of me cause “ I couldn't reach”. And every time she said that phrase she would laugh herself silly. Martha you will be missed more than you know. May you rest in eternal peace and when you reach heavens door just let out a laugh and Angie will be beside you instantly.
